I love you even more today

Listen close to what I say

All of me is all over you

Awake from crispy air wandering through the guest room we are in

A small town fall wind to be heard just outside

The clock is tic the clock is tac

Never felt so near

You call for me to come and sit in wooden sofa

There I have my drink , on the same bench as you

Blue eyes that you got they are often awake

Even though I'm not

Listen close to what I say

I love you even more today

Arms of yours they touch me full

Your neck is so inviting

A vampire rush is running inside me

Awoken by loving lust

For my lips is on your skin

Listen close to what I say

I love you even more today

Walking alone I see pictures of you

A kiss is shared from my memory

The calm has reached my heart

Love was only the start

Listen close to what I say

I love you even more today

A kiss from you your eyes so true my heart so far from feeling blue

My eyes in love in love so true my heart will never stop for you

Listen close to what i say

I love you even more today
