just watch me

Look at me now

Watch my wings spread as i turn into a butterfly

This is where i make the decision to change

I never wanna look back and see your ugly face again, as you take out your frustration at world on the ones that love you.

Never will i let you bring me down with you again

Watch me now as I raise up without falling

Never will the blade be the one thing that makes me feel better again

But I will cry when i have to, and after i will dance in the feeling of freedom

For to long has fear held me back its time for me to take my place in the world watch me now as I take off.
