

Publicerad 2010-01-13 10:27 av Algotezza

From my Creative Writing 2 course

Birds of a Feather – A Letter Monologue

I'm writing you to ask about a favor.

Remember what I've always done for you?

You had some troubles with that sneaking neighbor.

I think I fixed your former girlfriend, too.

Something has happened – that is why I'm writing.

I could have called but letters give more weight.

For many years we surely have been fighting against both greed and other people's hate.

It's time again to stand up for each other
'cause I've been fooled by villains on the net and it's that thing about my good old mother.
Her dog has died, I think – she needs a pet.

It could have killed her slowly working hearts.
A decent loan could make a brand new start!

/A

---

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Algotezza med Poeter.se id #2040 innehar upphovsrätten