

Publicerad 2010-05-22 19:52 av Foad

She believed he lied

He mistreated her trust and just like blowing on dust, the respect flew, it flew far away from him. She shed many tears, tears of dissatisfaction. Cries not only caused by him, no. It's the world's acceptance of lies, of lies and manipulation that made her tears bitter and warm. She believed he lied, now for her, he's gone. She believes he died...

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Foad med Poeter.se id #30002 innehar upphovsrätten