The angel of love helps me

If my heart had a spin it would always point at your name

Your heart has been in my heart as long as I can remember

The day I meet you and saw you for the first time

I come to a decision

To always love you

To do my best every day to make you smile

And when you not near me I think of you so hard that's my entire thoughts rise to the sky

My thoughts they fly away and if god has an angel of love I think it would help me push all my thoughts and love in your direction

I close my eyes and send a wish up to god pray that he will help me to get you to understand how much you mean to me
