

Puppylove ;)

Butterfly

My butterfly you know that you're my all,
I got you against the wall,
Stuck with the realness.
And you know that I'm blessed.
For you I'd jump the roof a hundred feet
on a silk sheet,
I always get back on my feet,
and you better believe it, babydoll.
See I close my eyes whenever you call.
And I fly away all the time when I pray,
for better days.
I get amazed of that you're face lightens up the darkest night, that's right.
Not unlike the North star, so bright, protects me from the pain I felt from the start.
You're my poisonous dart, my drug.
but still I thank God that I'm blessed with your love,
But whatever, I would never leave you alone.
You know bricks and stones can brake my bones,
but words... they hurt even mo'.
That's my version of the exprssion.
This ain't a poetry lesson,
but I'm trying to maintain against the rain,
And all the pain, that I feel.
See the gray clouds disapear when you smile,
Cause you are so god damn great,
and I don't wanna wait to another date, cause it'll be too late. You girl I could never hate, because I realize now that you're my soulmate.

lyrics written by: Tommi Wilhelmsson

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Tommi Wilhelmsson med Poeter.se id #34530 innehar upphovsrätten