

Publicerad 2011-02-17 18:34 av C-W. Rasch

Ämnad som sångtext, lite inspirerad av Duffys "Warwick Avenue"

Meet me (on the corner of Love street & Forgiveness)

Meet me on the corner of Love street and forgiveness

I'll be waiting for you

If you wanna let me sort out this mess

baby that's what I will do...

baby that's what I will do

In a moment of clarity, it's all coming back pictures of you and me, drifting apart how could we let this train get so off track

Now I'm standing at this dead end track, with a broken heart

Meet me on the corner of Love street and forgiveness

I'll be waiting for you

If you wanna let me sort out this mess

baby that's what I will do...

baby that's what I will do

Two people victims of overwhelming change there were so many places we forgot to discover

I try to connect again, but you're out of range

Now I know there's at least 50 ways to lose your lover

Meet me on the corner of Love street and forgiveness

I'll be waiting for you

If you wanna let me sort out this mess

baby that's what I will do...

baby that's what I will do we seem to have reached the point of no return but I'm still trying to make one last call

I thought it was cool, but I never learn

I beg the all mighty to take care of it all

Meet me on the corner...

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren C-W. Rasch med Poeter.se id #35680 innehar upphovsrätten