

Publicerad 2012-02-16 11:38 av Jessica Enneby Eldenstjärna

When fate has caught up with you, there's no return.

Swallowing Stars

If I could see the future ahead I would be free, and past moments shed But I have fled from sorrow and grief so shunned by sweet talk pretence turned disbelief.

So, there I am alone in the dust red eyed and weary with no one to trust The hope I had all shattered and lost you gaining freedom and truth at all cost

Though I do know, the picture is clear if not for you, I wouldn't be here The time is up we reached what was set from that very second when our eyes once met

So here's my conclusion my remedy and solution

swallowing stars, my destiny calls swallowing stars, from Venus to Mars swallowing stars, I know I am still an act of pure and true divine will

I close my eyes I open my heart letting it go gives room for a start our path was sourced from way up above into this play we humans call love no one to hate and no one to blame the earth still spins, all acting the same yet I am different in every way I have found out I've got something to say

So here's my conclusion
my remedy and solution

swallowing stars, my destiny calls

swallowing stars, from Venus to Mars
swallowing stars, I know I am still
an act of pure and true divine will

Yes I am different and changed from before yet still unchanged and close to my core the very thing that scared me to death now gave me birth, I'm screaming for breath

swallowing stars, my destiny calls
swallowing stars, from Venus to Mars
swallowing stars, I know I am still
an act of pure and true divine will

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se Författaren Jessica Enneby Eldenstjärna med Poeter.se id #29308 innehar upphovsrätten