

Publicerad 2012-03-12 17:53 av Cecilia Danell

3.

There was a fine big lump of burning coal inside my chest last night

My ribcage nearly burst open by the sheer pressure yet it felt incredibly light like something I wasn't used to something that moved me

I wanted to grab it with both hands and lift it out just to show you its glittering brightness and then lodge it safely inside so that I may live off that feeling for the longest time.

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Cecilia Danell med Poeter.se id #33655 innehar upphovsrätten