

The true star

The true star

When I look into the eyes of a true friend
I see a glint that shines
When darkness falls and takes place in my life I always find a way out because I see stars that shines
These stars do not belong in the sky but in the eyes of a true friend
They are more worth than all the wealth you can imagine If you are in deep despair no wealth or the selfishness of yours will save you

That is why you should evaluate your friends bring them before a ego human often feel It is important to find and get close to real friends who cares about you in the first place as I always will do for you This ensures that you will find a way out when you stand in the deepest darkness Therefore my true friends remain loved and the most precious thing I have those with a twinkle in their eyes that leads me out from the darkness and bring me to happiness again

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Dani Matti med Poeter.se id #41341 innehar upphovsrätten