She say

So far from anything

So far from day and night

so far from anything

I still can feel your lips

when you near me whispering.

"You are my true and only lover and we have seasons in our hand but there is something more I'm locking for...

so let me find the bridge to land."

I still can hear my breathing, and I still can hear your say...

But,

a dark and lonely engel

took my breath away.

So far from anything

so close to sun and light,

an angel with her wings...

so black and dark

and...

white.

So far from day and night

so far from anything

I still can feel your lips

when you near me whispering.

Darling,

I'm leaving you...

tonight.
