Unspoken love

When you hit rock bottom then you know you'll go the other way
Looking for a light that can change that dark path you're walking Clinging to anything that feels warm, touching the seat beside you on the bus that old memory, it was so long ago

Ones a girl gave me a note with hello, it made the summer
We ended up kissing in a back room, love so sweet
Your hair feel on my face and I was so amazed
That night my eyes shined all for you

I want something that I can not have Hoping It all came alive again
A childish love story
Something to make me feel

My heart echos empty
All the illusions I create
I should just blow them away
Start believe in something else
