We said we would be friends until the end

We said we would be friends until the end
yeah,until the end...
We shared everything
and we saw ourselves
as rebels...
Free...but was it really so?
Was it instinct instead?
It's strange how things can change
right before your eyes and you can do nothing about it It makes you wonder if it was just a lie?
My head is spinning around faster,faster
My heart is screaming
for release...
I know you loved me once
but the feelings are long gone
We did not make it until the end
When you get older will everything make sense?
No,I don't think so Remember this;
Knowing is not knowledge
