Freezing moments

The sight of you
etched into my mind
each smile
to cherish on lonesome nights

Moments frozen
to saviour
taste again and again

to stop the time
in vain
to not have to let you go again never knowing if we meet again will these few moments be all i have

freezing moments
glimpses
of an angel
giving a brief glance
into the gardens of paradise

saving your touches
for all lonely days
when I walk
like an invisible ghost
in the land of lovers
all hand in hand
except one person
me
with freezing moments
burnt into my eyes
wishing for you to return
