

Unrape

fuck the pussy

is that all there is porn have invaded my mind whenever someone says suck i think about blowjobs whenever someone says wet i think about horny women whenever someone says lick i think oral sex etc...

porn is dangerous...

it rapes my mind and makes my mind want to be raped more extreme and more violent.

that's just what some drugs do to some people i wonder what would the globe behave like if there were no porn i think that men wanting to hurt, degrade and humiliate women with sex is a myth i know it is. to get a hard-on when you watch a rapescene in a movie or reading about a rape in a newspaper makes men misunderstand themselves because watching a fake rape or reading about a real one will not make you like rape. you might get a hard-on but the pictures you see in your mind is a playgame on equal terms where the woman is really in on it too. i promise you no man that has never watched porn watched a rapescene in a movie or read about rape has ever gotten a hard-on while reading about or watching theatrical rapescenes. they have never gotten aroused fantasizing about anything else than soft intimate erotic meetings between man and woman but when men read about or watch movies about it they get confused, they get surprised. because porn, movies, and newspapers are all, not only reporting the event, but stating a little bit more that this is how men are and after reading about or seeing it hundreds of times the man starts to become unsure of whether or not there is something wrong with him, that is so soft and intimate and caring and open to feedback from women he wonders that and then falls for the thought of trying to pretend that he is more like a rapist, to see if he can mine something out from the fantasies that can help him decide if he has to watch out for himself or whether or not he isn't or is like this too.

but he won't feel that he got all through in the fantasy, so next time he tries harder. still the feeling of not getting all through lingers, so he starts to implement more extreme fantasies.

after a time he have tryed many a disgusting fantasy without getting through so. and this is where the crossroad is. the one that chooses to go on and fantassize about real women this way while them beeing right there. and starts thinking about doing it to that woman , and that woman, and that, and that,,,and starts walking around in lonely places maby and nearendly hiding for short moments in the woods just outside a walkingpath to get more intense fantazies...thats the guy that might commit a real rape...the one that ends with the fantasies in hes head after a while,, hell be ok...but only the one that havent started to think like that at all will be great without a big effort to come back to the intimacy, the erotic and original teenage love and arousal.

beeing good is knowing what moral codes, rules, advices, and principals etc that prevents you from evil claiming that you dont know good from evil is evil but as allways

noone travels alone everybodys been there...

---

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren TORUS med Poeter.se id #41757 innehar upphovsrätten