

Publicerad 2013-05-16 15:05 av Eva Akinvall (emca~vargkvinnan)

Monet, Claude, The Regatta at Argenteuil, c. 1872

I Love You, Human

Human

I love you human

For that, when you see animals suffering, being abused, being pushed to extinction

You immediately run to their protection

I love you human

For that when you see the ice melting far too fast on the Arctic

You struggle everyday to stop that

You start petitions, you protest, you inform

You do it with love and faith and with hope

And always with a smile on your face

I love you human

For that when you see people suffering from illnesses

You're trying hard to invent medicines and treatments for to them cure

I love you human

for always giving a warming hand to them in need

And for that you try to feed those who are hungry

I love you human

For that when you hear about the fact that meat production is one of the main causes for the climate changes you strive to lower your meat consumption and even work towards your goal to be meat free

I love you human

For that you invented such fantastic things..

The railway,

The bicycle

The ships and sails

Sun energy cells

And the wind power turbines too

I love you human

For that, when you notice that the air and waters are getting polluted

You work hard to stop that, and spreading the information

I love you human

For that, when you see the hell about wars

And weapons made to kill

You give your time in life to the work for Disarmament and peace

I love you human

For that, you always try to do to others

What you would have wished them to do to you

And for your solidarity with other humans, your tolerance, and your care for our Mother Earth

I love you human

for letting the wolves running free for letting the nature bloom in harmony and for that you carefully take part on the planet in coexistence with other living creatures

I love you human

For your sense for arts

For your music, your songs, your poetry

Your paintings, your beautiful, and practical, buildings, the stories that you tell

I love you human

For your enchanting sense of humour

And for your thinking with your heart too

I love you human

For that when you are blessed to be a parent you do everything you can to make the children feel worthy

And teach them solidarity, and compassion too

I love you human

For that you

Have so great ability for loving

I love you human

I love you

I love

I do

You have such beautiful Eyes

Eva mca April 2013

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Eva Akinvall (emca~vargkvinnan) med Poeter.se id #33356 innehar upphovsrätten