

Publicerad 2013-09-22 23:33 av Tovan_

Good bye Gingerhair

Have you heard about the girl with the ginger hair How she climbed to the stars one day and in to the night she dissapeared

Down on earth there was nothing for her left she had loved more than most and she felt really blessed

Like a ray of light she shot through the sky leaving those who would miss her crying behind

But she smiled and kissed away their tears with soft breezes and sunshine in their hair

She said pleas don't cry for me
I am happy where I am can't you see

The girl with the ginger hair she rests in the sun
she is in our prayer

The world is now a different place and the girl with the ginger hair has vanished without a trace

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Tovan_ med Poeter.se id #35014 innehar upphovsrätten