

Publicerad 2013-11-22 17:15 av JigsawJohn

Separated

The sea that separates me from my friends
I wanna live tomorrow but I guess it depends
I found out how my life is going to end but it's something I can't really comprehend

The stars that separate me from my home
I'm guessing I will walk these miles alone Speak a little louder I can't hear the painful truth but I loathe the way you cling to your youth

The walls that separate me from your reality
I'm living within a shell of insanity
Never take me for granted cause I'm unpredictable
These feelings I'm fighting are despicable

The blind that separates me from the sun
Telling me the change of my life has already begun
Turn me inside out and question everything I believe Dig deeper and you can't even begin to conceive

My body that separates me from my soul
Competing with my mind, out of control
And though I'll never fully understand
I turn every castle into grains of sand

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren JigsawJohn med Poeter.se id #36142 innehar upphovsrätten