Life decision

All of us, the creature of this world share the same moon

We are all born with the same advantages, with the same errors as the next man

Our choice of path, and our simplicity of mind makes us the ones we are going to be

No one is born a ruler, no one is made to be a victim, its the way we make our life

So see now its up to you what you are going to be, king or slave, alive or dead, its just up to you

So decide now

Man or beast, hunter or prey

You decide who you are going to be
