love

How will I be able to make you understand
That being here for you is the easiest part of my life
That I stay up late missing your heat

Crying my tears red of loneliness
Wishing that it was your heat that kept me warm
That the smile you have means the world to me
Too afraid of not being the man you end up with

If you knew I am awake when we sleep together
That I can't stop touching your skin
Can't really understand you are there
That I want to make every second count with you

I can't tell you that my hobby is to make you happy
Because if I fail I have nothing

Now it sounds that my love is dark
But it's not true

My love for you is the strongest feeling I ever have had
My love goes beyond sexual appeal
It's beyond my imagination

I never thought I would feel this
Therefore it hurts so much that you ended it with a message
Not even have the guts to see into my eyes
Telling me that you have fallen out of love with me
