love is so much more

Without Ownership

than between two people

many do not think so and love hard, then burning the bridges between you then
are the feelings a fog

you feel pain
about the people we celebrated long have I been looking to love the right woman

even though every one was meant to help me find myself in my journey
in learning to love

all mankind is in my heart for we are all one

without any ownership <3
