denna kom jag på efter sett på en film och jag vill att ingen ska ta illa upp om detta mina tankar om kristen heten och satanism

There is no Satanism and there is no Christ heck I'm just a kid that people think I'm a satanic kid just because i have pentagrams and listening to the "devils" music that is so called rock music. But I'm not a satanic kid I'm just a normal kid that you would see everywhere I'm might look different and act different but that doesn't make me different? So i don't know why you people just saying that we are satanic we're not we just like the style of music and we want to be a rock poser. I would not say that I'm a Christ ether i do like the song "one of us" with Joan Osborne and that is about god, but i do not worship god or go to church so does that make me a bad man? And if god was real he would make this world more peaceful and our "god" isn't Buddha or any other different religions gods. So if our "god" would do this world more peaceful would our "god" fight with other gods out there or what? I may like songs that have religious speak in it like the song "year zero" with Ghost B.C. they speak out Lucifer and his other names.
