“Safe Harbour and M-theory”

Part - 1.

I do not blame you, the world,

-my only home is,

as lonely as any human can be,

in the moment of transition and the moment of revelation.

I use to be near the sea or ocean, as close as >I ever can and listen to – the hum of ocean flowing, see clouds of the past and the future in motion–glowing,

It feels funny, like if the earth is at its late hour – of smething see – maybe the last spark of fire in the deep depth of the cosmic void, and only echo wants to spread its wings and travel constantly into the eternal cosmic night...

All because of you

-Creator of the sun, the moon and the stars, and us …

In this very moment of understanding, yes, a short moment, which can feel like everything?

-it lifts spirit of mine.

-as any poet,

I know that,

the eternity is always questioning-me -us..

and that`s why I always must be strong, strong, strong..

because life wants survive through me,

live through me

and you too...

Interesting,

-maybe, all linguistic operations,

the language itself,

simply reveals the underlying reality of our existence..?

-that’s why we must write our poems, books, essays and

-more…

Now, I think I understand, small pieces of our history and the living void above it… :)
