

World

The body

sings

a balanced explosivity

we call

relaxation

surrounded

by the whining metal

of scythe flocks

we call time

but magpies clutter

on roofs

in black and white

we call world