À la folie, pas du tout

As I cave in

(I know I will)

You look me in the eyes

And I cry then

For all my sins

Are mirrored deep inside

Is giving in the one true sin

Or are we not to blame

That all we feel and all we want

Is steeped in so much shame

Is this all wrong or is it right

And why must I decide?!

When all my sins

So clearly cried

Are mirrored deep inside.
