

The timeless splendor of Being

"Empty cognizance of one taste, suffused with knowing,
Is your unmistakable nature,
the uncontrived original state.
When not altering what is,
allow it to be as it is.
And the awakened state is right now spontaneously present."
Padmasambhava

A

spark

in the dark

The flame of beauty

is constantly burning

while the wheel of life is turning

The warmth of love is everywhere and now-here the shadows of the past and future are no more

The light of truth is now the core

All illusions dissolve

in the timeless splendor of Being

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

