

Devotion

Scratching at life, pulling up from the ledge

Falling apart, one leg over the edge

As time passes by you continue to pledge

Behind you are whispers, accuse and allege

Running away from all you have known

With each shared emotion, you try to atone

As hard as you try, from your lips falls a groan

In shambles, in pieces, laying your throne

[Chorus]

Flying above, not a care on your mind

Passage of time makes you more intertwined

Pulling you up, you are quite well aligned

Soaring on forward, powers combined

Senseless devotion, no tears at the seams

Crazy obsession, one of the themes

One or the other, sharing your dreams

Together you stand, against all extremes
