Nothing else matters...

Nothing else matters...

When we are together.

But I am standing here alone on my bare scared knees.

With my chest cut open and bleeding for you.

I guess you will never understand,

How much I miss you.

Nothing else matters...

When I have you in my arms.

So many nights I have spend sewing together the broken pieces of my heart.

But just a silent whisper ore a bare thought on you make my heart fall in to pieces again.

The days comes and goes but the time stand still fore me without you.

I guess you will never understand,

How much you meaning for me.

Nothing else matters...

When you say you love me.

I have no tears in my body to shed any more on the nights, only blood.

Thought on the paste keeps me waiting fore you day and night with every breath I take.

It is with that hope who keeps me alive and force me to take breath after breath.

I guess you will never understand,

How much I love you.
