Just don't

Don't be cliché
don't write about things you know will work

Don't try so hard in poetry, everyone knows poetry is just moody bullshit (in different packages)

What's the nastiest part of your hate?

Show it.
Write something awful Something that'll make others regret they ever read

Don't be that guy
be THAT guy.

You know what I mean.

Don't try being clever being stupid is much more fun!

Don't try unique that's already been done several times over in the past thirty thousand years or so

Real poetry comes from the shit you go through every day

Not the shit you come up with every minute

Don\'t hesitate to be inspiring
There is nothing wrong in telling others how they should live their lives

A couple of quotes to get you started.

\\"Every day is a battle worth fighting for\\"

\\"All nights end the same, in hope\\"

\\"Start by doing the necessary
Then the possible, and suddenly You\'ll find yourself doing the Impossible\\"

\\"I don\'t have time for should\'ves
could\'ves or would\'ves\\"

\\"If you want it - go get it\\"
