I am but a shell...

Don't you leave me here...

I'm so lonely, all I want is for us to be a family again

I'm tired of hearing you screaming and crying

I want to heal with a family that cares about me

Not with a family that's screaming and crying all night long...

Once we were happy and laughed together

Once we loved each other night and day

But now it's all over...

I am but an empty shell of my old self

Longing for that black rose to fill my heart.

For then I can feel something...
