All around me sulphur matches

The smell of your skinn makes the thread of pain seem so thin for once

All around me I see your sweet face watshing me from the stars From heaven and space
The touch of your lips so ghastly limeted The showing of your love is so frightfully invisible

For all those times you walked away my heart bleeds, and it makes it harder and harder for me to stay

All around me, prying eyes comes to see the lonely girl, how she&acute;s lighting sulphur matches in the rain

But the smell of your skinn cant make my world stop burning My eyes grows tears even in the rain and the tears makes my bloody heart stain-your face and I wish from the stars that someday you wont be wishing us apart

I really could see hearts breaking everywere around me the sadness was aching But never once did I suspect, that the reason for my pain was you I were too much into your heart, to see that my world was crashing because of you

The touch of your smile were all to subtle and your love was never even there And that is why all around me prying eyes comes to see a lonely girl who&acute;s me how I light sulphur marches crying

in the rain
