Deep Love

The severe cold in your eyes
Is the only thing you let people see
But I know you
I see beyond the winter cold

I see the wrath
I see the grief
That lingers around you
The hate inside you
Could devour the whole world
I know, I feel it to

You are me
I am you
We have shared it all
Unknown

The years we have been apart
Have never existed
Because we lived the same life

You are me
I am you
We have shared it all
Unknown

That our paths were crossed
Was a sign
It was meant to be
You and me

The only one who can see
The only one who understands
The only person who can tame
the land that was thrashed

Side by side
Completely together at last
We walk through the night

Nothing can come between us again

Not even the lies of paradise

Not even the flames of hell
