

Publicerad 2008-05-12 20:28 av Falk.

Såg på poeter som läste upp sina dikter i diverse tävlingar på Youtube och blev så himla inspirerad :)

Speaking for you

Now I'm standing here

For the ones who's not "normal"

For the ones who have felt the cold hand of unacceptance

Now I'm standing here

For the ones who have chosen

And for the ones who unintentional have fallen outside the frame

I'm standing here

Because I have decided

I'm gonna walk that walk through life as an individual

Not as a person. Not as a group. As the individual I was once born to be

The free will

Have you heard of it, have you read it somewhere?

They say it has been given to you

And it's true

You have been given the chance to decide

Take the chance, use it right and make yourself worthy

Worthy the name Human being

You have been chosen

Chosen to wear your heart inside a torso of a human being

On the right side

Can you feel it? Can you feel the careful pounding under your hand?

You're special. Not odd, not strange, not weird

You're perfect, just like everybody else

Don't let them push you down

Don't let them spit on you

Don't let them look down on you

Raise your head, look them in their eyes and show them the respect they deserve

Absolutely none...

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren Falk. med Poeter.se id #21856 innehar upphovsrätten