In her eyes

He look in to her eyse
And there he just see the sky
The beautiful colurs of the wold
And so mush more that he love
He can see all the love she give
And all the emotions she feel
He really love her eyes
How can he live without her by his side?

If she look in to his eyes
She definitely never see the sky
Never ever she could see a happy thing
His eyes is just a empty space
Whit nothing in it and noting to show
He just go around like he want to suicide a long time ago

He can't understand why she love him like she do
She have so much more in her eys then he coluld ever have
She really love him, she do!
