Silent Sparkles/Reaching for the sky/Sweet Billy

Silent sparkles in the sky

Silent whispers, silent screams

Longing for the unknowing

With darkness for quiet company

Words examine my veins

While hands push through my defensive soul

Touching the deepest secret

My mind is black as coal

Carry the wind with your eyes

I can see the ice inside

Cry for me, let the tears speak for you

Let them freeze us out, oh won't you cry?

Let them freeze us out, oh won't you cry?

You're numb and you're spreading in my heart

Slowly gracing edges of pain

The darkness and cold are loving you

With your face covered in pouring rain

Beauty flawed by razor tears

Calming your scared and crumbled heart

And the laugh, oh soft as feathers

Death was sleeping next to you from the start

You're dragging the pain, the of seven

But agony makes your dreams feel like heaven

Empty pages, filled with words

Will they ever gain meaning to me?

While storming forests tell me secrets

She's figuring out who next to be

Trust is dropping like rain and tears

She fell into my arms, you've lived through your worst fears

And though she is now reaching for the sky

She, like me, would really like to...
