Only now and never later your sanity will be questioned.

Will you stand tall or give in for higher purposes?

Give them the answer and lift the burden

Devine Insanity

Divine insanity refilled with pure madness.

Carved into unknowned forms and shapes, transformed til nothing and all.

Recognize your minds developing,

feel the thoughts fill your head as you drink the liquide substance

Only now and never later your sanity will be questioned.

Will you stand tall or give in for higher purposes?

Give them the answer and lift the burden

It will proceed to action caused by chemical reaction no cure for the broken, no cure for the willing

Move, get a long, sence it

Divine insanity reborn with infected madness brutalized to something you might have known, transformed till what you fear the most

Transfusion is your only way in your confused state of mind

Open your eyes inside and seek the truth

Scratch the walls of your prison

Your life forced to give in, your walls break down

Give in, let loose, break free

Welcome the disorientation

This is divine insanity controlled by nothing

Transformed into defused madness by you

Carved with claws in the depths of confusion

Silencium
