

Publicerad 2009-08-20 22:03 av DrownedDoll

At least we tried

You pretend that you're crying

Inside I am dying

Please don't leave me alone

I know I can't make it on my own

I can't forget all that we had

Both the good and bad

You said that we were soulmates

But you realised that you were wrong way to late

Whatever happens here

I know it'll end up with tears

But baby don't throw it all away

Maybe we can work it out someday

And if we don't make it and cross the line

Believe me, it's all fine

Because if you say that our happy-ever-after has died

We always can say, "at least we tried"

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren DrownedDoll med Poeter.se id #24035 innehar upphovsrätten