En låt jag skrivit

It still hurts

Vers.

There's a part of me
That you don't know
A part I don't think
I can every show
Not to you...who are close

So I live in my two worlds
Double life
One who knows and one who don't
It's like a knife
In the heart knowing I have to keep you apart
But I accept it
It's better this way
But what you said....

Ref.

It took my heart and tore it apart
and you don't even know it
You laughed at me
A part you don't see
So how can I be mad?
You didn't know
But it still hurts...

Vers.

Sometimes I think
Maybe it wouldn't be so bad
If I told you, at least mom and dad
It would make everything so much easier

But then I remember what you said
and then I just rather be dead
Then for anyone of you to ever find out
You wouldn't get it
You wouldn't understand
You wouldn't accept me for who I am

And what you said, the way you laughed.

Ref.

It took my heart and tore it apart

And you don't even know it

You laughed at me

A part you don't see

So how can I be mad?

You didn't know

But it still hurts

Vers.

So I take my secret to my grave

But I have friends they're my save

To have people there for me

Who understands, who can see

Friends who knows, who are the same

They know the feelings I can't tame

And I'll be fine as long as I have them there

Somewhere...for me to be 100% me

Wish I could tell you

I really do

But it would only cause us pain

You showed me when you laughed

And

Ref.

It took my heart and tore it apart

And you don't even know it

You laughed at me

A part you don't see

So how can I be mad?

You didn't know

But it still hurts...

I forgive you though

Can't expect you to understand, I know

But it still hurts...

It still hurts

It still hurts

It still hurts....
