Take a chance on me

Pack your bags and come with me. We will go on a journey come and see.

We will launch with power when the time is right. We did our best to stop the fight.

We will travel the stars together you and me. Take my hand and put your trust on me.

And together forever we will be.

Lets start from scratch on another place. We can make it together through space without a trace when we have gods grace.
