Don't, Always

Don't follow other peoples destiny

Don't run blindfolded through life, look around you and see the beauty

Always listen to advice on your path, never to orders

Always remember your past, that is what's shape your future

It's your choice if your path is in a concrete jungle, or in the wilderness

It's your choice if your life is going to be your dream, or someone else's

Don't look away from your pain, it might help you later on

Don't stop screaming if you feel something is wrong

Always be true to your self, after all, you are the one and only you truly can trust

Always say "hallo" to new friends, leave the vampires far behind

Follow our life in the way you love

Create your own path to shape the world as yours
