

Publicerad 2014-08-07 08:02 av zamillans

Sluta döm

Put on your goggles, stop being subjective in your judgmental of others and let objectivity flow.

Please look from above and make an analysis of why certain acts were committed

You do not know why a man takes a certain decision

Do not insult others, look at yourself and stop judging others, no one is perfect

You carry your own backpack, but do not put your backpack on someone else's back

Do not think that someone else carries your experiences in life

Sit in your own analysis and open up your own eyes, time to wake up

Stop blaming others for their behavior or actions in life, wake up, take responsibility for yourself and your own actions

We are many people on this planet, but we are alone in our thoughts

Do not judge others before you asked them why they acted as they did wake up, stop judging!

Texten är utskriven från Poeter.se

Författaren zamillans med Poeter.se id #47493 innehar upphovsrätten