Inspired by the apache kid's "leave life to the living"

Leave feeling to the living

Leave feeling to the living

Like a mountain morning in spring

Streams running all the way down in the green

Leave feeling to the ocean

Sailing with swimming dolphins

I stretch out arms to feel the speed

Leave the feeling to the living

Like the starrng sky covering me

A star flying by to take away wishes

I make no more wishes

Just breathe and feel

Smell the new mowed grass

Suck the warm chocolate in a chilly summer evening

Pinch me when it hurts so I can cry out like a baby

And laugh to death until I forget what I'm laughing for

Whatever it is, I take it

Whatever it is, I feel it

Whatever it is, I live it

No more analysis, please
