Real love is good and blind for the good ones

Sometimes people change that's not strange But more often than we change is it something who opens our brains

Love is blind
for the ones who really open the grind To there true heart who involves pain and tears until something tear the loves apart

One day will you open your eyes and you look straight inside your lovers face That's when the evidence is to much and then you realises that you for her was only breakfast and lunch

Yes it hurts
that the joke was on you and now you feel you belong to the nerds
But it is better you go to God and the good ones let us only hope that she don't already have eat you to dinner, so you don't running to the crazy ones

Blind love is not wrong
that's real and something strong
But the sad thing for this world is that bad people killing for more

Love again feel the pain
But if you die
be proud that you never used your love like a lie

Then i believe God loves you and give you someone to love in heaven Because if the bad ones don't change you then God will love you so much in heaven

Blind love is not wrong

But the sad thing for this world
is that bad people killing for more
