The greatest treasure

"Separation disappears once and for good. The body continues.

There are no problems with that.

You cease to imagine that you are the body and limited by its limitations. You cease to imagine that you are a person with its limitations. The mind and body continues as before and functions just as they always have.

Your exclusive identification with them snaps, and immense freedom and peace follow.

And you do not lose them."

John Wheeler

"I am"

the timeless Heart

Being-awareness already here nearer than near so brilliantly clear

Seeing completely through the illusion dissolving misleading confusion

The foundation behind

body and mind

is the greatest treasure to find

This truth is already here nearer than

near
