

my New colour

Have my world gone colour blind?
Have I completely lost my mind?
Cause the song pulling from inside
Screams of two lips being tongue tied
Lost on a one way street
Pulling me out from inside
Am I completely colour blind?
Sanity something I left behind
The day you stood in front of me
Drowning all the colours I had in my life
Cutting all the stars down
With your words like a knife
You took what was me
Turned into a greyscale
When you stood in front of me
I waved goodbye to reality
My name almost the shade of pale
All I can say
Reason melted away
Before you I'm colour blind
Stutter thoughts
Pulled out from inside
Talking behind a pair of lips being tongue tied
But the strange thing
I can still see
Hear the tunes
And all that is real
A new day's pulling through
And my new colour
Is you

Författaren Baystream med Poeter.se id #29457 innehar upphovsrätten